

Next Level of Business Intelligence

As a consulting company in the fields of business intelligence and corporate performance management, we at cundus AG support our customers in addressing strategic IT issues and provide them with tailored solutions. In doing so, our core competencies include constructing management support systems, implementing tools to aid strategic company management, and developing business information systems.

Disclosure management – including activities in legal consolidation, business reporting, and IFRS-compliant electronic financial reporting – is an area of particular focus in our service portfolio. Alienating our in-house developed Disclosure Management Software to the SAP, the world's largest business software company has given us global credit and is an impressive proof of our success and innovative strength in that domain. cundus is the leading German consultancy offering guidance on this now standard products from SAP. In the past year, our position at the forefront of this field has enabled us to gain the trust of major international companies; these customers are now relying on cundus experts to plan and execute their individual XBRL strategies.

We are now searching for suitable candidates in the greater London (UK), greater Washington, D.C. (USA) and greater Toronto (Canada) areas who can join our disclosure management team as soon as possible.

Consultant specializing in Banking and Finance

Your responsibilities:

- Consulting, designing and realizing sophisticated solutions in the area of consolidation and business reporting at conglomerates
- Managing projects and building up new customer accounts
- Supporting our customers, conducting customer workshops and presales assistance

Your profile:

- Solid knowledge of finances, year-end closings, balancing accounts, consolidation, and taxes
- A university degree or comparable training; past project experience
- Good knowledge in FINREP/COREP and Basel II/III or Solvency
- Sound business knowledge

Additional requirements:

- Very good skills in written and spoken English
- Developed capacity for analytical thought; structured, conceptual methods
- Strong communication and presentation skills and ability to interface with customers at multiple levels
- Affinity for working with others in a team
- Self-dependence, confidence and a focus on the customer
- General willingness to travel

You will be working in creative and dynamic teams on a project-by-project basis with the goal of developing innovative solutions that excite our customers. We view our employees as our most important resource, and the work atmosphere at cundus is congenial and professional. The ability to work in teams and advance the development of specific areas are key aspects of working at our company. Also essential are skills in conflict management, moderation, and presentation, as well as a keen awareness of quality; structured, results-oriented methods; and a constant, active willingness to learn and further develop your abilities.

We are offering a structured training phase, exciting projects that will give you the freedom to take responsibility and initiative, and intriguing possibilities for advancement. You will be part of a dynamic, midsize environment in which decisions are made and information is shared in a direct, efficient manner.

Interested? We look forward to receiving your application by e-mail.

cundus AG
 Britta Nienhaus
 Schifferstraße 190
 47059 Duisburg
 Germany

Tel.: +49 203 3175-015
 E-mail: jobs@cundus.com
 WWW: <http://www.cundus.com>